

Why is Malaysia launching a Bess project?

The inaugural development of public BESS project in Malaysia is part of the Government's efforts to support the energy transition and achieve the goals of increasing the country's installed renewable energy capacity to 70% and to achieve net-zero by 2050.

Should foreign players participate in Bess projects in Malaysia?

Nevertheless, given that the development of BESS projects in Malaysia is still at an early stage, participation of foreign players with experiences in energy storage system projects may be crucial to support and encourage further projects of the same nature to be developed in the Malaysia energy market in the future.

Can Malaysia emerge as a key player in the Bess industry?

With supportive policies and rich renewable resources, Malaysia can emerge as a significant player in the BESS industry. A central pillar of MyRER's post-2025 strategy involves prioritising cost-effective energy storage solutions, including battery storage.

What is Bess certification program?

This program has been improvised based on the existing certification program implemented by MOH. As eating out has become an increasing trend nowadays, and in relevant to the raising concern over obese population in Malaysia, BESS is aimed to help food business operators in four different key areas in providing healthy and safe food.

How will Bess help Malaysia become a sustainable world?

The integration of BESS propels Malaysia toward a sustainable future powered by clean energy. With reduced emissions, increased grid reliability, and surges in green investments, Malaysia is on track to become a global model for sustainable development and environmental stewardship.

Is Bess the beginning of a significant step taken by Malaysia?

This may be the beginning of a significant step taken by Malaysia in achieving such goals given that BESS is labelled as one of the unproven markets in the National Energy Transition Roadmap published by the Ministry of Economy.
