Mine's a black marble cube with a heavy lid that can't be lifted. Only I control the lid like a sliding door. When I notice a thought has distracted me I sling it fast into the box through a slightly open lid. After repeating this many times I can now refocus by only thinking about the box. Repetition is important and a bit dull part of practice.

012_Dice Thankyou so much for the math. Funny thing about success rate of work. To my knowledge N.E. Boxes still provide the same amount of energy as P.E. Boxes its just that they harm the Agent to obtain them and have different affects on someones mental state when consumed as a drug.
