

Is Sudan a good country for solar energy?

Besides the hydro resources, there is further renewable energy potential through solar and wind energy, biomass and biogas, and geothermal energy. Sudan provides an excellent base for solar photovoltaic power development. Its favorable geographic position provides comparatively high global horizontal irradiation of 1900 to 2500 kWh/m²/year.

Does Sudan have solar energy technology?

Sudan's total solar energy technology achievements as of 2010 (Omer, A.M., 2015, p.254) The country, represented by its Ministry of Higher Education and Scientific Research (MHESR), does realize the importance of renewable energy and solar energy in particular in solving essential live problems especially in rural parts of the country.

Is solar energy making a comeback in Sudan?

Fortunately, the country is now witnessing a comeback to solar energy as it is an effective tool to drive development, employment, and stability - particularly in rural and agriculture-focused communities. "In Sudan, access to energy is a critical tool, and solar is an effective way to achieve this.

Should solar energy be adopted in the Sudan?

There are definitely huge potentials (theoretically, technically, realizable and long term) should solar energy be adopted in The Sudan. The present transition phase requires a serious practical focused strategy to make positive contributions to its energy sector and development altogether.

Can geothermal energy be exploited in Sudan?

Some of the few available studies have revealed such potential. Geothermal energy has been discovered in the Suwakin area, the Jebel Marra volcanic mountains, and other remote areas. Geothermal data collected from oil wells reveals huge potential for exploiting geothermal energy in many areas of Sudan.

What is the average solar energy density in Sudan?

Where most regions in the world exhibit annual average solar energy density ranging between 100 to 250 W/m² (Sustainable Energies, No Date); Sudan's solar energy density ranges between 436-639 W/m² (Omer, A.M., 2015, p.250). The map below (Fig. 5) reflects Sudan's Global Horizontal Irradiation.

The world's leading clean energy company, Hanergy Mobile Energy Holding Group announced that its subsidiary, Hanergy Glory Solar Technology has recently concluded a one-month test drive of the world's first commercial solar power vehicle solution at China Automotive Technology and Research Center, which can run without pole charging for at least a consecutive 30 days.
